A Mother's Day Gift That Gathers Fragrant Flowers

(NAPSA)—It's no secret that a gift which gathers flowers from the world's most remote and secret places will probably make a wonderful Mother's Day gift for any mom who loves flowers.

One gift that offers such a bouquet of rare and aromatic scents is Destiny, a fragrance created from a bouquet of exquisite white flowers, each of which is known for its ability to arouse the senses and inspire the soul.

The flowers found in this sensuous scent include Kyphi, the graceful Calla Lily and Fo-ti-tieng, which was so revered by the last Emperor of China that it was restricted for use in the Forbidden City.

Potent Karo-Karunde grows wild on the volcanic soil of southern Africa and its scent can be detected more than one mile away.

Romantic Tekh, the ancient name for White Rose, is said to open the heart to give and receive unconditional love. Exotic Osmanthus is gathered from the highest Himalayan peaks, where Tibetan monks believe their immortal souls may touch the hand of God.

Delicate Narcissus is the flower of inner vision that is said to help a woman find her center. Elusive White Orchid is favored for the way it can recharge the intuitive mind with new energy.

The best way to make the most of this luxuriously aromatic perfume is to layer it, so a gift that combines various forms of it are even better than simply giving the perfume alone.

That way you can begin by adding bath and body oil to your bath, moisturize with perfumed body lotion, dust with powder and spray the Eau de Parfum.

Scent should be applied to your pulse points. Some believe that applying perfume to the pulse points of the body known as Chakras can increase energy.

The Destiny Crystal gift set is well suited to layering, as it contains a 3.3 oz. Eau de Parfum, a 1.0 oz. Crystalline Dusting Powder, a 3.0 oz. Renewal Body Lotion, and a .50 Bath and Body Oil. The gift set sells for $67.
