Conducted by Richard W. Fleming, M.D. and Toby G. Mayer, M.D. of the Beverly Hills Institute (BHI) of Aesthetic and Reconstructive Surgery, the survey found Nicole Kidman has the most desired nose (Reese Witherspoon was a close second). Halle Berry has the most wanted eyes, Liv Tyler beat out last year's winner, Angelina Jolie, for most desired lips, and J-Lo won the vote for best body.

However it's not just female features that are coveted. "Even when men come in for a consultation they typically have a goal in mind, says BHI co-director Dr. Toby Mayer. "Sometimes they tell you exactly what they want, like Ben Affleck's nose or Brad Pitt's eyes."

But how do patients attain their ideal? While both doctors boast a number of stars among their clientele, they readily admit they're not miracle workers. "Just choosing Julianne Moore's chin isn't going to turn the patient into Julianne Moore," says Dr. Fleming. "We strive to achieve the best possible features for each patient's face."

Fleming says the latest surgical techniques combined with the skills and artistry the doctors have developed over 25 years have helped ensure BHI patients are satisfied with their results. It's this reputation for success that has helped the doctors earn the title: "surgeons-to-the-stars." As co-directors of BHI, both are board certified and are Fellows of the American College of Surgeons.
