Treating Scars On Sensitive Skin

(NAPSA)—Improving the appearance of scars may be an easier proposition than you might think—especially when it comes to facial scars. Try these tips:

Cleanse Often

Wash any cut or skin abrasion regularly with warm water and a gentle cleanser. This will help keep cuts on the skin from becoming infected, which can lead to scarring.

Cover Up

Avoid spending too much time in the sun. Its ultraviolet rays can damage your skin's pigment and sometimes worsen the appearance of scars. Overexposure to the sun's rays can also lead to skin diseases.

Treat Your Scars

Use a topical scar gel like new and improved Mederma® Skin Care for Scars™, which provides the proven effectiveness of the original in a new formula with an irritant-free fragrance safe for all skin types, including sensitive skin. Now, consumers can treat their scars without the worry of sensitivity—and enjoy the formula's fresh new scent.

Mederma® reduces the appearance of old and new scars from surgery, injuries, burns, acne and stretch marks. For more information, visit www.mederma.com.
