

Playing Motherhood For Laughs

(NAPSA)—If any of America's estimated 74 million kids are yours, an uproarious new book may be for you (and make a great gift for any mom you know).

As you may have found, parenthood is not for the fainthearted. It's often a mayhem marathon filled with exhausting days, punctuated by public outbursts, poison control phone calls, and poop (everywhere). But you're not alone.

Parenting can be really hard—but often hilarious, a new book shows.

About The Book

The book, "Parentally Incorrect: True Tales by Real Moms About the Fked-Up Things Their Kids Have Done" (HCI), comes straight from Tracey Tee and Shayna Ferm's irreverent mom-to-mom comedy tour, The Pump and Dump Show.

Created mostly from cards by women across the country who confessed the craziest, most exasperating, unforgettable things their kids have done, it also features Sad Cake moments—those little bummers that deflate you; Stump the Breeder trivia questions; Awesome MOMents drinking games; and Lies We Tell Ourselves Before We Have Kids.

The idea behind the book is to help parents everywhere realize that the insanity that can happen is in no way a reflection of their worth or skills.

Where To Find It

It's available in stores everywhere and on Amazon at <https://amzn.to/2w3vzlZ>.