eBay Bargain Shopping

(NAPSA)—Online auction services are more popular than ever—with as many as 68.8 million registered users. With all the different products, categories, buyers and sellers, how does anyone land the legendary bargains that made services such as eBay so popular? Self-confessed bargain shopper and bestselling author of eBay For Dummies, Marsha Collier has answers for anyone who wants to get started or hone their eBay skills.

The “Queen of Online Shopping” offers her tips on finding bargains online.

In her new book, eBay Bargain Shopping For Dummies (John Wiley & Sons; $14.99), she offers ways to cash in on the amazing bargains eBay vets have found for years—from real estate to diamond rings to digital cameras to Nike sneakers.

You can buy everything from beanies to Buicks on eBay—if you know how and where to look. So grab this book before you bid! The leading eBay maven tells you where to find the good stuff, how to shop and pay safely, how to save big bucks, and lots more.

Collier, known as the “Queen of Online Shopping,” wrote this book based on her own experiences from buying almost everything for her family and business online—most of it on eBay. The book also shares information on shopping safely online.
