Turning A Pink Slip Into More Green Bucks

(NAPSA)—“Every cloud has a silver lining,” can even apply to workers who recently lost their jobs.

Many job losses can lead to greener pastures.

They can view this as an opportunity to get a better paying, more interesting job and a chance to learn more high-tech skills that can make them more valuable on their next job.

One-Stop Career Centers can provide assistance for many. One-Stop Centers are at the heart of the new workforce investment system under the Workforce Investment Act.

As part of America's Workforce Network, these centers help businesses find qualified workers and help job-seekers get employment and training services to advance their careers.

There are also several online employment sites made available through the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment and Training Administration such as:

- America's Service Locator—www.servicelocator.org
- America's Job Bank—www.ajb.org
- America's Career InfoNet—www.acinet.org
- Work Force Tool Kit—www.doleta.gov/employ.asp

America's Workforce Network offers toll-free information by calling 1-877-US-2JOBS.
