Bumper Crop Of Humor

(NAPSA)—The message you display on your car bumper tells a lot about you. From being the proud parent of an honor roll student to offering colorful advice to the driver traveling too close behind you, a bumper sticker lets you boast, confess and otherwise mouth off 24/7.

Honk if you're the kind of person who wears his/her feelings on their back bumper.

A bumper sticker is also a terrific way to show the true colors of your patriotism. Show off a little red, white and blue and you've got an appreciative audience wherever you drive.

Now, if you want to give the driver in your rear-view mirror a chuckle, offer an opinion, state your cause or do a bit of flag waving, you can do so—in your own words. A computer program called Your Bumper Sticker Maker makes it possible to design and print your own personalized messages on quality bumper stickers.

The software gives users a selection of fonts and templates, making it fun to devise your own back-bumper bulletins. Your Bumper Sticker Maker is available at quality computer and software stores.
