Great Gadget Gifts On A Budget

(NAPSA)—Playing Santa on a smaller budget can be challenging, but with quality gadget gifts, you can still please everyone on your shopping list without breaking the bank.

Chances are, most of your friends and family already have the high-ticket electronics they want, such as a Nintendo Wii or DS, Xbox 360, iPhone or laptop. So help them make the most of what they have with gifts that will enhance, customize or protect their favorite tech toys.

Enhance—Broaden their gaming horizon with family-friendly fun at prices you can easily afford. They'll shred the slopes all winter long in "Shaun White Snowboarding: World Stage" ($49.99 on Wii). Shaun White has partnered with Target to offer a special-edition version of his latest video game, including exclusive behind-the-scenes Olympic training videos and in-game content. Or pick up modern classics like "Wii Sports Resort" (with Wii MotionPlus, $49.99) and "The Beatles: Rock Band" ($59.99 on Wii, PS3, Xbox 360).

Customize—Reform their tech gear with all kinds of budget-friendly personalized peripherals and stylish accessories. Help your budding rock stars show their personal style with all-new Roxy Earbuds ($19.99) and On-Ear Headphones ($69.99), both available in an assortment of cheerful colors. For the iPod or iPhone enthusiasts on your list, amplify their holiday season with audio accessories like the Skullcandy Pipe iPod Pipe Speaker Dock ($69.99)—a sleek new speaker system that sounds as good as it looks.

Protect—Keeping accessories protected is an easy, affordable way to make sure your gifts keep on giving. Even someone who has "everything" will appreciate items like protective iPhone covers from Incase ($19.99-$34.99), laptop sleeves from Isis Dei and Sumdex ($19.99-$29.99), a Hannah Montana Nintendo DS Lite Protective Case ($9.99) or Sony PlayStation Portable Travel Case ($19.99).

Save yourself a New Year's headache and stay on budget this holiday season. You don't have to sacrifice time over money either—shopping at a store like Target allows you to stock up on exceptional values in one simple trip. Remember, convenience is bliss and pleasing everyone can be affordable, so relax and get giving.
