Vanquishing Pain

(NAPSA)—Aches and pains can be easy to ignore, but knowing the cause can make it even easier to treat them.

More than 21 million Americans suffer from osteoarthritis (OA), a degenerative disease that is the most common form of arthritis. Quite often, OA sufferers ignore the symptoms until the pain becomes unbearable and limits activity levels.

Learning more about osteoarthritis of the knee can help you find ways to treat the pain that accompanies this condition.

What's the best way to learn about OA? Speak to your doctor. Your physician knows the symptoms of the disease, how to test for it and the treatment options that are available to you.

If you suffer from the pain of OA of the knee, one of those options is Euflexxa (1 percent sodium hyaluronate). This three-injection treatment for knee OA pain has been proven safe and effective and may offer you greater pain relief and improved joint function as compared to an industry-leading hyaluronic acid (HA) therapy.
