

ENTERTAINING IDEAS

How To Enjoy Your Party

(NAPSA)—If you want to spend the next party you throw enjoying your guests, rather than preparing their food, try this tip: Serve packaged foods that come ready to eat.

Party Planning—Ready-to-serve food can make entertaining easier.

Studies have shown that packaged food stays fresher longer than non-packaged food. In addition—and perhaps equally important in the eyes of a busy host—these can be served fast and put away quickly.

For example, the company Salmolux offers smoked salmon in a vacuum-sealed package. The packaging is guaranteed airtight by the DuPont™ Sure Lock™ Seal. The fish can be served on crackers, with fruit or meat for a delicious, quick and healthy treat.

“We introduced our new Cheese Logs specifically for entertaining,” says John Randisi, of Salmolux. “They’re convenient to serve. All you do is open the package and slice it or use a butter knife to put the cheese and salmon spread on whatever you wish. It’s available in four varieties of gourmet cheese.”

A variety of precooked meats come in DuPont airtight packaging as well. The meats can be served as appetizers or as a main course. Resealable packages let you take only what you need and save the rest of the meat for later.

For more information visit www.dupont.com/packaging.