

Making Life More Entertaining

Easy Ways To Stretch Your Entertainment Budget

(NAPSA)—Here's an entertaining idea—a credit card that offers rewards that can be used for a wide variety of entertainment.

Movies, television, music, theme parks, and interactive games are just a few of the entertainment rewards cardmembers will enjoy by using the new Universal Entertainment MasterCard from Chase.

By using the card, cardmembers earn one point per dollar on all everyday purchases and two points per dollar spent on select Universal purchases.

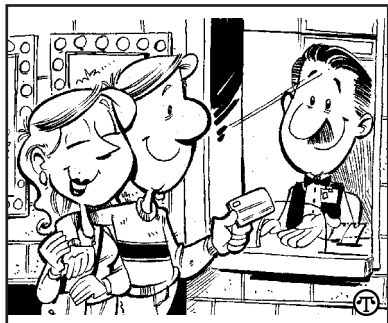

Points can be redeemed for a wide array of rewards that appeal to varying tastes and lifestyles, including movie and concert tickets, DVDs, CDs, Universal theme park passes, and more for as little as 1,000 points.

In addition, cardmembers will have the opportunity to redeem points for unique entertainment experiences, including tickets to award shows, spending a day on a television or movie set, backstage concert passes, and walking the red carpet at movie premieres.

The card is accepted at more than 29 million merchant locations, offers access to cash distribution channels worldwide, Auto Rental Insurance, and Purchase Protection, among other services.

More Fun Benefits

Cardmembers will enjoy automatic entertainment-related enti-

Earn more fun while having fun? A new credit card makes life more entertaining.

lements from day one, including:

- Complimentary E-music downloads;
- Invitations to advance movie screenings;
- Discounts on select Universal Parks & Resorts tickets purchased online; and
- Discounts on select purchases at Universal Parks & Resorts.

The credit card has no annual fee, and cardmembers will receive a low, ongoing rate and a 0 percent nine-month rate on balance transfers.

Consumers can apply by phone by calling toll-free 1-888-251-0760, or by visiting www.chaseuniversalcard.com to apply online.

For more information about Universal Parks & Resorts, visit www.universalstudios.com.