Things Once Lost Can Now Be Replaced

(NAPSA)—There's good news for travelers: It's now possible to quickly replace lost or stolen passports and major credit cards, as well as travelers cheques.

One phone call is all it takes to get help with lost or stolen credit cards and passports.

Thanks to a new service, a single phone call can connect American Express Travelers Cheque customers with a representative who will assist them with the process of replacing lost or stolen items, even major credit cards issued by other financial institutions.

These services are offered as an added benefit 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to American Express Travelers Cheque customers.

"Nothing can ruin a trip faster than having your important documents, wallet or bag lost or stolen. Consumers have told us this service will give them the extra peace of mind they need while traveling," said Randall Beard, vice president and head of worldwide marketing for American Express Travelers Cheque Group.
