

BUDGET STRETCHING TRAVEL IDEAS

New Credit Card for Frequent Flyers

(NAPSA)—Many consumers have caught on to the value of Frequent Flyer credit cards. After all, one of the best rewards there is for using your credit card is earning free travel. Credit card issuers have also caught on to the value of these cards, and there are many out there. But are you getting the most out of your Frequent Flyer program?

All Frequent Flyer programs offer free miles to reward purchases. Some even offer discounts for hotel stays, restaurants, and rental cars. Now there is a card that lets consumers earn miles and have access to a service designed to fully enhance the travel experience.

Continental Airlines and Chase have teamed up to present a first-class credit card that offers an on-call Concierge Service around the clock. This is a unique and excellent perk—especially when you're traveling and you want to locate that primo restaurant in town, or get tickets to a hot show, or find a boutique that specializes in just what you like. With this card, all of this assistance is a free phone call away.

Concierge Service is not the only benefit of the Continental Airlines World MasterCard and Visa Signature Card from Chase. There are a host of other benefits intended to reward frequent travelers. For every dollar spent, cardmembers will earn one OnePass® mile, the award-winning frequent flyer program that offers free Continental Airline tickets after certain levels are reached. As an added benefit, cardmembers will earn double miles on the purchase price of Continental Airlines tickets bought directly from a Continental ticketing facility, through Continental Reservations, or online at www.continental.com.

One credit card frequent flyer program offers free concierge service to help cardmembers have a good time on the ground, too.

Other travel benefits include Travel Assistance Services that offer emergency and referral services, automatic travel accident, lost luggage and car rental insurance. Add all of these benefits and a no pre-set spending limit—with an option to pay off a portion of the balance over time—and cardmembers will be flying high with this card.

For more information or to apply for the card, call 1-800-247-8144.