

Warming Up To Cool-Weather Entertaining

(NAPSA)—Increasingly, homeowners are turning their patios and decks into “outdoor living rooms.” Now new patio heaters are making it possible to use these spaces for entertaining and relaxing practically year-round.

For example, new developments in patio heating like those from Outdoor Leisure are designed to extend the patio experience by providing body-level warmth in a way ordinary “mushroom-style” patio heaters can’t.

Outdoor Leisure’s Gas Light patio heater radiates consistent warmth for head-to-toe comfort. Also, a wind-resistant gas light provides a source of firelight that enhances patio ambience.

The company has also introduced a bar-height Bistro Table with a built-in heater for those parties when guests need a warm place to congregate.

Both heaters are available at Lowe’s, Ace Hardware, True Value and other fine retailers.
