

Holiday Hints

Holiday Shopping Made Easier

(NAPSA)—Good news for gift seekers: There are thousands of consumer electronics products on the market this year.

From the latest digital cameras, to plasma TVs, to MP3 players, the selection of electronics is impressive. Fortunately, there are easy-to-use shopping Web sites to help you find the right gift at the right price.

The screenshot shows the CNET.com homepage with a navigation bar at the top containing links for Product reviews, Shopping, Tech news, and Downloads. Below the navigation bar is a search bar and a 'CNET.com' logo. A horizontal menu lists various product categories: Desktop, Notebooks, Handhelds, Servers, Peripherals, Music, Cell phones, Home video, Appliances, and PCs. Below this is a 'POPULAR TOPICS' section with links for Napster 2.0, Sony and HP Wi-Fi PCs, New Dell handhelds, and Sony P30. The main content area is divided into several sections: 'TODAY ON CNET' featuring a large article titled 'Slashing the size OF BIG-SCREEN TV'S' with a sub-headline 'If you've been prying for a 50-plus-inch TV screen for your home-theater setup but don't have enough floor space to spare for a massive box, check out these DLP and LCD models that have big screens without big boxes.'; a 'SO POPULAR, IT'S SCARY' section for the Canon Digital Rebel; and a 'STAY PLUGGED IN' sidebar with links to various product reviews. At the bottom, there is a 'DIGITAL LIVING' section with a 'PERSONAL TECH RADAR' chart and a 'WHAT'S YOUR STYLE?' quiz. The right sidebar includes a 'CLEARANCE CENTERS' section with a 'HOLIDAY WINTER' banner and a 'BUZZ' section with a 'TRUCKS and treats from Apple's Panther' link.

Learn what's new in electronics at a comparison shopping site.

Considered one of the best is CNET (www.cnet.com). It has in-depth and unbiased product reviews, buying guides, user opinions, and 360 degree photos.

Features like CNET Digital Living (<http://living.cnet.com>) and the annual Holiday Gift Guide focus on helping people find consumer electronics products that best fit a certain lifestyle, interest, or person. Is your loved one always on the road? Does he or she always have to have the latest gadgets? Looking for the perfect gift for that zany uncle? At CNET, the editors make recommendations based on these and many other criteria so you can be sure you're picking the right gift.