Green Valley, Arizona, Is Top Relocation Choice For Boomers

(NAPSA)—Active adults are becoming more selective in their lifestyle choices—such as where they choose to live in later life. One locale that's rapidly becoming a mecca for active baby boomers is Arizona.

Sunny weather and clean air are just two reasons many people are relocating to Arizona.

For example, the town of Green Valley, nestled near the Santa Rita Mountains just south of Tucson, offers 300 sunny days a year, clean southwestern air, low humidity and inspiring sunsets.

“We see growing interest in the distinctive Green Valley lifestyle,” said Rod Davis, sales manager for Monterey Homes/Green Valley.

There are almost limitless recreational opportunities including seven golf courses, 12 recreation centers, 23 heated swimming pools, tennis, bocce and racquetball. The city is surrounded by three beautiful lakes offering fishing, boating and camping. Residents can also take part in clubs, social groups and exciting outdoor adventures.

“Secure neighborhoods and the hometown feel of Green Valley combined with distinctive floor plans of Monterey Homes’ Canoa Ranch, Las Campanas and The Legends developments offer impressive lifestyle options,” Davis said.

Homes range from 1,240 to 2,480 square feet, with 26 floor plans to choose from and prices starting around $120,000. For information, call (800) 528-4930.
