Pocket-Sized Mini Cars Are Here

(NAPSA)—If you're in a spin about what to get your son, daughter, niece or nephew, these fun facts and figures about a new fun line of speedy mini-vehicles may help to get your thought-engine running.

AWESOME STREET RODS that race, jump and spin.

- Called Blazin' Key Cars!, these speedy mini vehicles can race, spin and jump gaps in the road.
- The mini-cars got their name because a realistic custom key can be inserted into the back to create 72 joules of energy to propel the car forward.
- Each of the collectable pocket-sized mini-vehicles, with their sturdy chassis, super wide racing wheels and awesomely distinctive styling, comes in a plastic see-through case that attaches to a child's belt for easy carrying.
- The mini cars, created by Irwin Toy, celebrating its 75th anniversary, include models from world class auto companies such as General Motors, Ford and DaimlerChrysler.
