

Holiday Boredom Busters

Affordable Fun For Holiday Travel And Family Get-Togethers

(NAPSA)—Airport delays, long road trips to see relatives and sometimes longer days spent visiting can leave you feeling less than jolly during the holidays. Try these boredom-busting tips to help amp up your holiday fun:

Terrific Travel

There may be no place like home for the holidays, but for millions of Americans, it's the season to hit the road. Forty-three million people were expected to take to the skies last season alone, according to the Air Transport Association, with millions more driving long distances to see friends and family. If you'll be among them, check out two boredom-busting games: TouchMaster3 for Nintendo DS and Game Party 3 for the Nintendo Wii.

TouchMaster3 offers a compilation of 20 addictive games in one—ranging from puzzles, cards and strategy games to action and word challenges—and it's simple enough for gamers of all experience levels to enjoy. Additionally, users have the option of single-player and two-person multiplayer modes, and they can even use the device's wireless feature to challenge friends and family over local DS wireless. TouchMaster3 features hours of fun and unlimited replay options through collectible bonuses. Players can test their skills on games such as Bumperball, Slime Assault, Dice King 2, PrismaTix 2 and Wild Words. TouchMaster3 makes a great travel companion for puzzle lovers, gamers and casual players this holiday season, for just $29.99.

Family Competition Favorites

Millions of families reunite around the holidays, providing plenty of time to catch up and enjoy one another's company. You can spice up some of those long days with fun games the whole family will love, such as Game Party 3 for the Nintendo Wii.

The right games can help make holiday travel delays or long car rides fun.

Available exclusively on the Wii system for just $29.99, Game Party 3 provides a high-energy social gaming experience with 19 diverse games for the whole family. Options include new games such as Billiards, Mini Golf, Smack-A-Troll and Racquetball, as well as returning favorites like Darts, Trivia and Horseshoes. Each game lets up to four players compete at once, and the "tournament mode" lets as many as 16 players participate together. You may be surprised at grandma's skill at Darts and the kids' agility at Racquetball! You'll make new holiday memories the whole family will remember.

Both games are published by Warner Bros. Interactive Entertainment and are available at local retail stores where video games are sold.

For more information, visit www.gameparty3.com and www.touchmaster3.com.