

Fashion TRENDS

How To Create Your Own Designer Look

(NAPSA)—“Friends” stars Jennifer Aniston, Courteney Cox Arquette and Lisa Kudrow always look like a million bucks on the hit television series “Friends,” thanks to the incredible fashion sense of trendsetter Debra McGuire. She has been the resident costume and fashion designer on the hit NBC sitcom for 10 years and also performs similar duties on the TV show “Crossing Jordan.”

Recently, McGuire decided to design her own jewelry and fashion, Stylemaker, which are available exclusively on the TV shopping network HSN and hsn.com. Debra demonstrates how to wear her creations and also gives tips to viewers on how to create their own personal designer look.

McGuire says, “You can create your own designer look by expressing your inner energy and heart in each of your personal creations. Every outfit can be a one-of-a-kind when you put your mind to it.”

Here are Debra’s tips for creating your own designer look.

1. Most important—stay true to who you are.

2. Know your body! Don’t wear something just because the magazines say it is a “must-have.”

3. Pick one great accessory and work around it with simplicity (necklace, handbag, earrings, scarf.)

4. Accent one area. If shoulders are bare or a plunging neckline, keep the rest simple and understated—you don’t want the eye jumping around.

Trendsetter Debra McGuire says, “Every outfit can be a one-of-a-kind when you put your mind to it.”

5. Look at what you have in your closet. You can shorten or lengthen an old skirt, add a great top and a new accessory.

6. Shoes are a great accessory. Again, don’t wear pointy toes because they are in and not particularly flattering to you. Wear what looks best for you. Don’t be afraid of color.

7. Color should be used strategically. If you wear a bright top, it is best to play down the other areas.

8. A great necklace can sometimes be worn as a belt. Try a pin on your handbag, top or pants instead of a belt.

All women can benefit from their own personal creativity to dress and feel great. For more information on Debra McGuire’s Stylemaker collection, tune in to HSN and hsn.com, where she regularly introduces her hot new fashion and jewelry creations.