An Ultrabook For The Ultra-Dad Or Grad

(NAPSA)—Still searching for the perfect gift for your dad or grad? When thinking about how you want to say “Happy Father’s Day!” to dad or “Congratulations!” to your grad, Ultrabook devices are the must-have tech gadget for dads and grads this summer.

Inspired by Intel, the company that makes the processor — or the “brains” of today’s computers — the Ultrabook is ultra-sleek, ultra-powerful and ultra-portable, making it the perfect gift for busy dads or grads who want to stay connected no matter where they are.

A mobile gadget that screams cool, Ultrabook devices from companies including Acer, Asus, Dell, Lenovo, HP and Toshiba each bring a unique and first-class personal touch to mobile computing, along with the performance, mobility and long battery life provided by Intel® Core™ technology. The Ultrabook takes the weight off a traditional laptop PC, weighing in at under three pounds, and is less than an inch thick. This powerful and lightweight computer is designed to appeal to everyone’s lifestyle.

Here are a few Ultrabook choices to consider:

Acer Aspire S3 Ultrabook

For the modern-day dad who is constantly on the go between work, home and extracurricular activities, this powerful Ultrabook is designed to extend his mobile freedom. The Acer Aspire S3 can be used for up to seven hours on one charge, turns on instantly and connects to the Internet at lightning speed.
