“Trove—A Woman’s Search for Truth and Buried Treasure” by Sandra A. Miller

Eight years ago, Sandra Miller was invited on an armchair treasure hunt: a search for $10,000 worth of gold coins buried in New York City, of all places. When she agreed to go, her entire world was upended. Miller talks about her struggle entering middle age and an inner longing for something more—in her case a search for gold coins connected with a lifelong fascination with buried treasures.

“Trove” takes the reader on an adventure with Miller as she searches for the $10,000 worth of buried coins. Along the way, she grapples with the regret and confusion that so often accompanies middle age. From Brown Paper Press, purchase at http://bit.ly/2RvxHId.

“Get in the Game—How to Create Rapid Financial Results and Lasting Cultural Change” by Rich Armstrong and Steve Barker

Though technology has evolved at hyper speed over the last hundred years, management styles have mostly stayed the same. The higher-ups make decisions, and the employees grind it out, often without knowing the endgame. In 1983, Jack Stack created a new game, The Great Game of Business.

Now, entrepreneurs Rich Armstrong and Steve Baker are expanding on the rules of that game. This book is the only business operating system that reconciles the people/profits paradox, balancing the need for profit with the need of people. It’s finance and culture. It’s substance and soul. It’s money and people. This book is designed to teach you the principles and practices to get there. From Advantage Media Group, buy at https://amzn.to/369pguc.
