

Did You Know?

You can protect your baby even before he or she is born by getting vaccinated against RSV while pregnant, the experts at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention advise. For more information on maternal vaccines and their importance, visit www.cdc.gov/vaccines/pregnancy.